Council Denies Request To Sell Beer-Wine On Sunday

A request to change Section 3-3, Hours for Sale of Beer and Wine, of the Town Code was denied by members of the Town Council in their meeting on Monday night.

At the previous meeting of the Town Council, Mrs. Harry B. Stanley and Mr. J. T. Guill had appeared before Council to request that they be allowed to sell beer and/or wine on Sundays either on or off premises at their respective places of business in the Town of Appomattox. No action was taken at that time but the request was denied by council this week.

The Property, Recreation and Health Committee received bids on a car for the Town Police and on low bid purchased an Impala Chevrolet from Moses Motor Company for use by town police.

The same committee is awaiting appraisals on the Appomattox Hotel and is expected to recommend to council that the Town of Appomattox purchase the "hotel" for the Downtown Project.

The Property, Recreation and Health Committee recommended that council consider purchasing a new garbage body and chassis as the old body chassis is wearing out. Council authorized the committee to proceed with developing the specifications on this piece of equipment.

In other business, council authorized entering into a contract with Dominion Tank and Iron Company to paint the 30,000 gallon water tank in the Town of Appomattox.

Council also voted to advertise their intent to adopt certain revisions to the Town Sub-Division Ordinance. The proposed revisions will be advertised at a later date.

A Water Control Board stream classification review meeting will be held at Central Virginia Community College in Lynchburg on April 8, 1975 and Councilman Ronnie Spiggle, W. S. Slagle, Town Manager and Mayor Henry Pack plan to represent the Town of Appomattox at this meeting.

The Loudoun County Board of Supervisors is polling most Cities, Counties, and Towns in the state to determine if there is sufficient interest in the utility (electrical) rate situation to justify requesting that the Governor call the Legislature back into session after March 15, 1975 to speak to the energy and utility cost problem. The Town of Appomattox has received such a questionaire and council feels that this matter is of grave concern to the citizens in the town and county and is in favor of voting "YES", they do feel it is important to ask the Governor to call Legislature back into session to review this situation.

Council was informed that the State of Virginia has passed a law to the effect that all jurisdictions must have "erosion and Sediment Control Ordinances" by July 1, 1975. The Town Council agreed that the town should come under the County Ordinance if the County of Appomattox has no objection.

Historic Appomattox Station Arts and Crafts Center requested that they be allowed to renew their lease on a portion of the "depot" for the period April 1, 1975 through December 31, 1975. Council approved the request from the Center with the exception of Railroad Day Weekend that has been planned for the second weekend in October.

An amendment to the Town Code has been passed to change the meeting date for regular council meetings from the third Monday night of each month to the second Monday night of each month effective immediately.

Concert Set For April 5th

The restless hand of the man who directs Virginia Tech's NEW VIRGINIANS is that of Stan Kingma, a one-time mechanical engineer who fell in love with choral music.

Kingma's latest group of Tech students who sing improbable songs with such zest, The NEW VIRGINIANS, will appear in concert here on April 5th; sponsored by The Appomattox Lions Club.

A tall, dark-haired musician with a friendly smile and a mood that can change from a catchy top-10 tune to an earlier classic with a twist of his ever-moving hand, Kingma's interest in choral music goes back to his own days at Purdue University.

The NEW VIRGINIANS' concert here will be held at 8:00 p.m. in The Appomattox High School Auditorium. Albert P. Stewart, Purdue's famous Glee Club director won't be in the audience, but even today Kingma will confess that Al Stewart's lingering influence is apparent in the Kingma brand of choral music.

But the stage presence and showmanship of Stan Kingma long since has gone far beyond the formal glee club format that Stewart popularized for a generation at Purdue. Kingma's musical performances have been evolving in spectacular fashion ever since he came to the University at Blacksburg ten years ago.

The NEW VIRGINIANS performances, more akin to those of an entertainment show troupe than traditional college singing groups, take surprising turns. A lissome lass is an likely to be cavorting around the stage doing the Charleston as the singers are to be immersed in the contemporary sound of Extensive damage was done to the cab and tank of the oil truck.

Red Cross Fund Campaign In Operation

"The Red Cross Fund Campaign is in operation and the response of our citizens is encouraging," reports Lloyd Walton, Fund Campaign Chairman. During the past week a number of individuals and church groups made generous contributions to the Red Cross.

The Fund Campaign will continue during the month of March. Volunteer workers are presenting the Red Cross story to churches, organizations and clubs of the county. They are also conducting a program of door-to-door solicitation.

To reach the goal of $2,315, Red Cross needs support and financial assistance "of every citizen of the county. It will be impossible to reach every individual personally. Therefore, you are requested to mail your contribution to Mrs. Virginia Gull Doss, Appomattox, Virginia. Make your check payable to American Red Cross, Appomattox Chapter.

"Demonstrating its grave concern over the mounting toll in deaths and injuries from accidents, American Red Cross Safety Programs took major steps last year to combat this menace and make U. S. Communities safer, reports Rev. Cecil Dalton, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter.

"In 1972, some 117,000 persons were killed in accidents of all kinds," Rev. Dalton said. "Among the total of 51 million injured, about 11.5 million suffered injuries that were disabling."

In a determined effort to curb this carnage, the Red Cross launched a broad frontal attack aimed at teaching first aid to at least one member of every family and at further "waterproofing America" through its instruction in swimming, life saving, and boating safety.

"Notable among the steps taken by the national Red Cross organization was the adoption of the cardiopulmonary resuscitation technique for giving emergency care to victims of heart attack," he added. The CPR technique consists of rhythmic pressure on the victim's chest above the heart, alternating with mouth to mouth resuscitation.

"Another safety measure," Rev. Dalton said, "was the issuance of two new Red Cross first aid textbooks in which all instructions for care of the injured and accident prevention have been updated. Teaching methods outlined for the books' use also have been modernized. The two texts, Standard First Aid and Personal Safety and Advanced First Aid and Emergency Care, are now available for use in local programs.

Several motion pictures for instructional use were pro-

Oral Cancer Detection Clinic Set For April 13

Dr. C. G. O'Brien, President of the Appomattox County Unit, American Cancer Society, has announced a Mouth Cancer Early Detection Clinic to be held at the offices of Dr. S. R. Lawson and Dr. J. M. Fellson on Sunday, April 13, 1975. This is the second year that a clinic of this type is to be conducted in Appomattox.

The clinic will open for registration at 12 noon and will continue to register until 5 p.m. Everyone is encouraged to register and have the examination whether or not they have had a recent dental examination or treatment. Persons who no longer have teeth or who wear upper or lower dentures are particularly urged to attend. Cancer of the month is one of the easiest cancers to detect and treat in its early stages, but if it is not treated it can be among the most serious of all cancers.

The examination will include a study of the facial features, the lips, cheeks, gums, tongue, and the roof and floor of the mouth. It will take approximately 3 to 5 minutes for the dentist to make the examination and to insure if the patient has any visual signs of possible oral disease. If further tests are required, an oral surgeon will be available to make or complete the tests. The examination and tests are free, including any counseling service that might be required at a later date.

Although mouth cancer is generally a disease of persons over forty years of age, all area residents are encouraged to attend. Persons under 18 will be examined if they are aware of some unusual condition in or about the mouth and are accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Mouth cancer is generally painless in its earlies stages, and many persons are not aware of its growth until it is too late. Possible early signs include hard or soft (spongy) spots, a sore that does not heal, unusual bleeding or discharge, red or white spots on areas on mouth tissue, a swelling or thickening (lump) in the head or neck area. More often, these signr will be indications of a less serious or harmless condition, but let your dentist be the judge.

In the ten-year period from 1957 to 1968, the deaths of Virginians with oral or mouth cancer increased 55 percent as compared to a 26 percent increase for all cancer deaths in the same period of time.

Estimates vary between 13,000 and 50,000 new cases of oral or mouth cancer in the United States each year, with approximately 6,000 reported deaths. Many of these deaths could have been averted if these cases were diagnosed in time to permit successful treatment.
